

Timothy Hudspeth

President/CEO

Tim Hudspeth is the Founder, President and CEO of AccuTech Construction, Inc. He has been very successful in ensuring that each one of his customers become long term clients by listening for and catering to addressing their every project need, then carefully and expediently applying AccuTech's talent and proven processes to assure their project's success. Per Tim, the greater the technological challenges, the tighter the schedules and the more critical the work environments the better and thus has a twenty-year record of delivering on his commitments. Tim remains hands-on for every project by working directly with the client's design consultants, each of the project and site managers and subcontractors or becoming personally engaged to meet an aggressive schedule. Whether it is the complexities of delivering a Tier 4 Data Center capable of operating at 5-Nines reliability or a new memory care facility for hundreds of residents waiting for their new home, each project challenge gets his undivided attention.

Beneath Tim's genuine and reassuring demeanor, is his personal compulsion for delivering industry-leading quality and on-time results. This is evidenced by the testimony offered by owners and subcontractors alike who praise his care and fairness for all contributors on a project as he knows his long-term success is tied directly to all of theirs. He has even translated these qualities to his loyal staff, who, to a person, appreciate his clarity and extraordinarily high standards for quality. He extends his integrity by personally investing in service to his local community, in his church as an elder, and with his staff and their families by creating an environment for them to thrive.
